Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-19, 25-35, and 44, drawn to a vessel, classified in class 210, subclass 244.
- II. Claims 20-24, drawn to a static filtration media mat, classified in class 210, subclass 496.
- III. Claims 36-40, drawn to a method of producing a static filtration media, classified in class 427, subclass 244.
- IV. Claims 41-43, drawn to a static filtration media, classified in class 210, subclass 502.1.

Inventions I and II together with IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the thickness of void mean value as required by group II, or the specific compositions of group IV. The subcombination has separate utility such as in a flow line connected closed casing.

Inventions IV and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and

(2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the mat as required by group II. The subcombination has separate utility such as in a flow line connected closed casing.

Inventions III and I together with II and IV are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the products could be made by another and materially different process, for example a process using a catalyst for speeding curing of the binder as opposed to heat or electromagnetic radiation.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application includes four patently distinct species that correspond to the drawing Figures as follows:

Species	Figure

4 7.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Claims 1, 2, 5-9, 12, 19, and 44 correspond to species 1, 3, and 4;

Claims 3, 4, 10, 11, 13-18, and 25-35 correspond to species 1.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, 20-24 and 36-43 are generic with respect to species 1-4.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

A telephone call was made to Ms. Michelle Lester on 3-26-03 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.
